Gorilla, My Love

BY TONI CADE BAMBARA

That was the year Hunca Bubba changed his name. Not a change up, but a change back, since Jefferson Winston Vale was the name in the first place. Which was news to me cause he'd been my Hunca Bubba my whole lifetime, since I couldn't manage Uncle to save my life. So far as I was concerned it was a change completely to somethin soundin very geographical weather like to me, like somethin you'd find in a almanac. Or somethin you'd run across when you sittin in the navigator seat with a wet thumb on the map crinkly in your lap, watchin the roads and signs so when Granddaddy Vale say "Which was, Scout," you got sense enough to say take the next exit or take a left or whatever it is. Not that Scout's my name. Just the name Granddaddy call whooever sittin in the navigator seat. Which is usually me cause I don't feature sittin in the back with the pecans. Now, you figure pecans all right to be sittin with. If you thinks so, that's your business. But they dusty sometime and make you cough. And they got a way of slidin around and down sudden, like maybe a rat in the buckets. So if you scary like me, you sleep with the lights on and blame it on Baby Jason and, so as not to waste good electric, you study the maps. And that's how come I'm in the navigator seat most times and get to be called Scout.

So Hunca Bubba in the back with the pecans and Baby Jason, and he in love. And we got to hear all this stuff about this woman he in love with and all. Which really ain't enough to keep the mind alive, though Baby Jason got no better sense than to give his undivided attention and keep grabbin at the photograph which is just a picture of some skinny woman in a countryfied dress with her hand shot up to her face like she shame fore cameras. But there's a movie house in the background which I ax about. Cause I am a movie freak from way back, even though it do get me in trouble sometime.

Like when me and Big Brood and Baby Jason was on our own last Easter and couldn't go to the Dorset cause we'd seen all the Three Stooges they was. And the RKO Hamilton was closed readying up for the Easter Pageant that night. And the West End, the Regum and the Sunset was too far, less we had grownups with us which we didn't. So we walk up Amsterdam Avenue to the Washington and Gorilla, My Love playin, they say which suit me just fine, thought the "my love" part kinda drag Big Brood some. As for Baby Jason, shoot, like Granddaddy say, he'd follow me into the fiery furnace if I say come on. So we go in and get three bags of Haymore potato chips which not only are the best potato chips but the best bags for blowin up and bustin real loud so the matron come trottin down the aisle with her chunky self, flashin that flashlight dead in your eye so you can give her some lip, and if she answer back and you already finish seenin the show anyway, why then you just turn the place out. Which I love to do, no lie. With Baby Jason kickin at the seat in front, eggin me on, and Big Brood mumblin bout what fierceosome things we goin do. Which means me. Like when the big boys come up on us talkin bout Lemme a nickel. It's me the hide the money. Or when the bad boys in the park take Big Brood's Spuddeen way from him. It's me that jump on they back and fight awhile. And it's me that turns out the show if the matron get too salty.

A Magical Book

Sarah loved to read. She read novels and poems. She loved the beautiful descriptions and phrases. She loved reading work from poets and novelists. She didn't like video games or technology. She was on the basketball team, but she didn't like sports. Her parents made her play basketball. In fact, Sarah's parents made her do almost everything. But she didn't mind. She just wanted to sit and read all day.

One day, a small book came in the mail. It was for Sarah. The book looked very special. It had a lot of pictures of girls. Sarah began to read. The outline of the story was simple. It was about a magical place. Strange things happened there.

One example from the book was about a boy who could control people. In one scene, he controlled his mother.

Sarah loved the book. She read it all the time. Then something strange happened. The book gave Sarah a special power. She could control other people. She was scared to use it. She used it in school. During one exam, she made her friend tell silly jokes. Her friend got in trouble.

After school, Sarah did not make a direct trip home. On the way, she went to the local store. She wanted to play more tricks on people. She caused problems. She caused a lot of trouble. She was having fun.

Finally she left and started to walk home. Then she saw something. Her basketball coach was about to walk in front of a bus. He was about to get hit. Sarah used her power. She controlled him. She made him stop walking.

She was doing something that day.

It was better to help people than make them suffer. So, she put a limit on how she used her powers. She did not want to do bad things with it anymore. She only wanted to do good.

The Fox and the Grapes

One afternoon a fox was walking through the forest and spotted a bunch of grapes hanging from over a lofty branch. "Just the thing to quench my thirst," quoted the fox.

Taking a few steps back, the fox jumped and just missed the hanging grapes. Again the fox took a few paces back and tried to reach them but still failed.

Finally, giving up, the fox turned up his nose and said, "They're probably sour anyway," and proceeded to walk away.

Bambara emphasizes the strong bonds that can be formed among people based on Nientâ €™ other than the empathy and shared human condition. The names are very significant in «Gorilla, My Love», as in many other stories of the collection. The conflict in the car and in the cinema derives from the Agriculture of Hazel for recognizing the dishonesty. This story also introduces the themes of integrity and authenticity. Written by James Thurber, this story tells the dreams of a passive man who accompanies his wife in his weekly commissions. From Tobias Si to Tobias Wolfstre a married couple washes the dishes together in Tobias Wolff, the theme of interracial marriage stands and the two discovered to have conflicting opinions on the matter. Furthermore, the support characters rarely appear in multiple stories, suggesting different families. Hazel asks Hunca Bubba if she intends to marry her girlfriend and he replies yes. It also gives history its title. However, there are some moments of overlap between the secondary characters; for example, a character called Baby Jason appears in this story and A «Maggie of the Green Bottles». A «Gorilla, My Love» is also one of the most densely allusive stories of the collection. Finally we see that the narrator is called Hazel while she corrects her grandfather's words it after he calls her Peaches. The choice also indicates that the moment in which Grandaddy insists is worth calling her Hazel, he must be a strong statement to her identity of her. Although Hazel is not interested in knowing about her girlfriend, a photo of the girl in front of a cinema brings to mind a memory. Hazel has many nicknames, including Scout, Badbird, Miss Muffin, and Peaches. The parents of her respect its moral integrity and do not punish for its rebellion. The old bridge focuses on an old sitting on the side of a country road during the war. Hazelnot mentions that Hunca Bubba is no longer called Hunca Bubba-now goes from the full name of him, Jefferson Winston applies. At the film, she is indignant to be deceived by the title of the film. You measure the performance of the announcement. The youth of her is denied by her strong voice of her, yet the final moment - in which she cries alongside her child - she usually reminds us that she is inexperienced. Ihazel is not the only character who believes that a person's name influences her or her identity. There is an embarrassing silence in the car. She also mentions that her grandfather called her scout her because she likes to sit in the front seat and navigate every time she drives. Hunca Bubba shows the photos of her girl of her to Hazel and Baby Jason. (An exception to this is "survivor", which also presents a non-chronological structure). However, A € à, - A "gorilla, my love" is a hybrid between a traditional narrative and a story of frames. Although the car scene is undoubtedly in which most of the development of the character of hazel, Hazel's journey in the cinema provides crucial information on its values and its relationship with your family. From an objective point of view, therefore, A € à, - A "gorilla, my love" follows a fundamental moment in development of the narrator in an adult - is starting to understand the difference between literal and figurative expression.
